BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE PHILIPPINES

PROCLAMATION NO. 1313

DECLARING JULY 8, 2007 AND EVERY YEAR THEREAFTER AS NATIONAL ALLERGY DAY

WHEREAS, allergy is an abnormal reaction to ordinary harmless substances that causes the immune system of an allergic person to react when an allergen is absorbed into their body, treating the substance as a harmful invader leading to such symptoms as watery eyes, itching, sneezing or a runny nose;

WHEREAS, allergic symptoms last as long as the allergic person is exposed to the allergen and beyond, that may lead to fatal asthma;

WHEREAS, the medical cost of relieving allergic symptoms and asthma continue to rise;

WHEREAS, Filipino children aged 13-14 years old exhibited one of the highest incidence rates for allergic diseases in the International Study of Allergic and Asthma in Children (ISAAC) involving 38 countries in Europe, Africa, and Asia Pacific;

WHEREAS, the findings have placed the Philippines on top of Asian countries with high prevalence rates of common allergies like rhinitis and asthma higher than that of Thailand, Indonesia, and Korea;

WHEREAS, there is a worldwide effort to reduce the medical impact of allergies and asthma which aims to educate those who deal with allergic disorders and provide a sound basis for practical action to be taken by the governments, health care professionals, lay organizations, and patients at a national level.

WHEREAS, a major step to address the problem of allergies is the celebration of National Allergy Day on July 8, 2007 and every year thereafter.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GLORIA MACAPAGAL-ARROYO, President of the Republic of the Philippines, by virtue of the powers vested in me by law, do hereby declare July 8, 2007 and every year thereafter as "National Allergy Day", and order the following:
